HERITAGE CLUB

You don't stumble upon your heritage.
It's there, just waiting to be shared and explored.

Heritage is one of the pillars of our society. It guides the newer generation and gives them a gateway to their past. Our heritage needs to be preserved and left untouched so that future generations can explore its wonders. That is why T.I School has taken the initiative to encourage students to discover their heritage and learn how to use it to benefit society. Many trips around Tamil Nadu were organised to have a one-on-one experience with our culture, such as different temples, historical memorials, and so on. We also get to research about this in our own time and get to do lots of fun activities in Heritage Club. All in all, the Heritage Club plays a vital part in encouraging students to discover their past and forge the future.

THEATRE AND LITERARY CLUB

"I regard the theatre as the greatest of all art forms, the most immediate way in which a human being can share with another the sense of what it is to be a human being."

The Theatre and Literary Club is a place where people can learn acting and literature. The club's activities for this month took place on August 24th in the school auditorium. Club members from grades VI-XII attended the session. The Club members presented a mime depicting the Navrasas or nine emotions: fear, surprise, love, anger, disgust, laughter, sorrow, heroism, and peace. The Navrasas were displayed through the stages of a boy's life as he grew into a man. Each rasa(emotion) was expressed through different scenarios in the day-to-day life of the character.

Post the mime, Tharika from grade XII illustrated all the emotions through classical dance skills. Her performance was a practical demonstration of the emotions, enabling the audience to understand their significance.

The activity focused on teaching the students the importance of emotions while performing a skit or a play. To drive this point home, the club president, E. Sai Nandan, took the stage at the end of the meeting. He shared the importance of emotions in effectively communicating the underlying message of a scene or a character.

The eventful day served as a platform to achieve the club's goals, providing students with a clearer understanding of the objective of the Theatre and Literary Club.
